

Mindworx Academy

The migration of business processes to mobile and digital systems is creating an unprecedented demand for analytical skills; skills that are scarce in South Africa despite the number of university graduates with basic analytical education.

The Mindworx Academy turns inexperienced graduates into confident and appropriately skilled professionals capable of fulfilling entry level roles, through intensive training and work experience that sets them on a path to long-term employment. Our solutions, which include learnerships and internships, are customised to meet clients' needs.

A non-traditional pool of graduates, comprehensive assessments and innovative training and development techniques results in unrecognised ability being channelled into meaningful employment while addressing skills gaps in high potential graduates.
